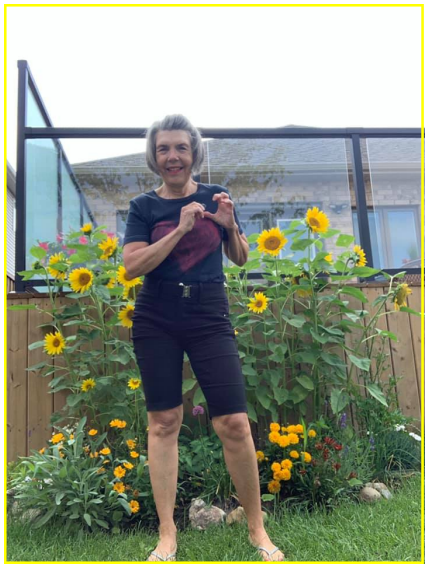
A Step into Gardening

One of our new members challenged us to get involved with the Communities in Bloom Flowers of Hope campaign.

Their idea was to paint Stratford yellow (the colour of hope) by planting sunflowers all around the city. Well, we decided to make it more fun by having a contest. Who could grow the biggest and best.



Susan decided to plant her first garden,

and she was our winner.

Pat grew lots of yellow. . .
but, alas, no sunflowers!

Joan also had pretty good luck.

A Step into Gardening

Miriam wasn't in the contest because she didn't use our seed packet, but just take a look at what she grew!
